Summary

Ostrynska L., Roshkulets R. Ecological Content of Practical Philosophy. The article investigates the connection between basic concepts of practical philosophy, such as communicative rationality and living world, and global ecological problems. Such connection is based on the fundamental coexistence of human being and nature. When this interaction is disturbed civilization crisis emerges, so practical philosophy proposes the solution to this trouble. Technical rationality, which occupies not only nature, but human being too, must be completed with communicative rationality with living world as its basis. Keywords: practical philosophy, ecology, communicative rationality, living world.
